

Presence of Warship In Spanish Waters Is Matter of Criticism

Trades and Labor Congress Delegates Asked to Request Withdrawal by Government—Toronto Man Would Stop Company Unions

MONTREAL, Sept. 9.—Delegates to the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress Convention here today had their attention turned to the Spanish war by a statement that the Canadian destroyer Saguenay was in Spanish waters.

The statement was made by James Buckley, secretary of the Toronto Trades and Labor Council, who declared the congress should go on record as asking the Government to withdraw the warship, as Canada had not declared war on Spain.

Mr. Buckley made the statement when a report of the executive council declaring the labor body's views on international peace was adopted. The report submitted there should be no declaration of war by Canada until after a referendum.

A protest against Mr. Buckley's remarks came from S. Rieker, of Vancouver, who said the Trades and Labor Congress was not interested in the whereabouts of Canadian warships, but was deeply interested in the success of the Spanish workers in their battle against Fascism.

The charge that M. S. Campbell, conciliation officer of the Federal Text: workers in Quebec were being denied the right to organize, said A. Bastien, American Federation of Labor organizer, who told of the strike at Three Rivers last week.

The congress would support the "Youth Act" drawn up at the National Youth Conference in Ottawa if there was nothing objectionable in it. Mr. Draper told Beatrice Perry, of the Office and Store Employees Union, Toronto. She had appealed for organized labor's interest in the problems of unemployed youth.

GOVERNMENT SLOW

Criticism of the slowness of the Federal Government in getting the Employment and Social Insurance Act into operation was voiced in a resolution passed and in discussion on the executive report.

A committee report which met with reference to the courts on social legislation: "If legislators can escape their responsibility by enacting legislation which they are reasonably sure will be invalidated by the courts, we have reached a stage when the necessity of having our Parliament supreme will be one of the most urgent questions before us."

Resolution approved asked for "adequate unemployment and social insurance for those unfortunate residents of Canada who through old age or lack of employment are unable to support themselves."

Establishment of a national system of health insurance similar to the British system was also asked.

OPPOSE AMALGAMATION

Opposition to the co-ordination of railway services and to amalgamation of railways was declared in a motion passed on the sponsorship of Vancouver railway carmen. The resolution said despite the pledges against amalgamation given by the King Government, "the process and results of amalgamation are daily becoming more manifest."

DENIES STATEMENT

OTTAWA, Sept. 9.—Col. L. B. Lafitte, deputy minister of national defence, tonight branded as "absolutely unfounded" statements such as made before the Trades and Labor Congress at Montreal by James Buckley, of Toronto, that the Canadian destroyer Saguenay was in Spanish waters.

The Saguenay accompanied the Canadian pilgrim ships to France in July for the unveiling of Canada's National War Memorial at Vimy Ridge.

"She stayed around British ports and visited the French port at Brest," the deputy minister said. "She is now on her way to her home port, Halifax, and will arrive in a few days."

Following today's Cabinet meeting the Prime Minister, Mr. Purvis and Hon. Norman Rogers, Minister of Labor, gave details of the broad policies on employment tentatively adopted. Some of them will require Federal legislation at the next session and some provincial legislation may also be involved. No special session would be required, the Prime Minister thought, but all preparations would be complete to introduce

Annual Saanich Fair Attracts Big Crowd

Unusually fine exhibits in the fruit, vegetable, flower and women's sections of the sixty-eighth annual Saanich Fair, held yesterday at Saanich, excited the admiration of the visitors who crowded round the well-filled tables. Following the example of the Saanich Jersey Club, the North and South Saanich Agricultural Societies has this year taken a step in the direction of encouraging the young people of the district to take an interest in farming by opening a class for "Boys and Girls' Vegetable Collection." This attracted eight entries, Russell Nunn, Sidney, winning first prize, and Jack Doney, Saanich, second. In the photograph are shown some of the places of fruit (among which Gravenstein apples were an especially good display), and the cookery. The Blue Ribbon biscuit competition brought out thirteen entries, Mrs. W. Heale winning first prize.

Jersey exhibitors, other than Mr. Burbridge, were Arthur Aylard, of the Breckenridge Farm, Ian Douglas (Thrive), Major A. D. MacDonald, "Dunelm," and R. Evans (Tod Inlet).

In the school children's exhibit in the hall a special feature was the "Queen Mary" display by Strawberry Vale School. The Indian exhibit, in charge of Father Lemmings and Miss Lovick, won the judges' warm commendation, especially for Grande Prairie, Falher, Croward and Fairview also reported frost.

EDMONTON, Sept. 9.—Frost was again reported in the Peace River country last night. Lowest temperature was recorded at Hudson Hope, B.C., where there was six degrees of frost. Fort St. John, Grande Prairie, Falher, Croward and Fairview also reported frost.

weight-pulling contest, and subsequently having tea as the guests of Alec McDonald, M.P.P., and George T. Mitchell, who acted as the hosts on behalf of the association.

"FAIR LAND"

The district was traditionally one of the foremost agricultural areas of the province, the peninsula being widely known for its small fruits, bulbs, seeds, nursery gardens and loanberry wine products. Such fairs served a very real purpose in bringing together consumer and producer in an intimate way, which should lead to better understanding of their respective problems. The products of the peninsula were admirably exemplified in the exhibition.

For a short time after declaring the fair open, Mr. and Mrs. Hamber remained by the platform to watch the Highland dancing. Mrs. Hamber presenting prizes to some of the young contestants.

MANY CONTESTS

The most spectacular features were the Highland dancing, the heavy draught-team weight-pulling contest, the school sports, the dog show and the sheep-dog trials. Major A. D. MacDonald's team won the weight-pulling contest, making a good start with the heavily-laden stone-boat and its freight of granite boulders and eight of the heaviest men of the district. The two other teams in the contest were C. S. Fox's and Clarence Oldfield's.

Alec Turner, of North Saanich, for the second year in succession, took the Col. P. D. Davidson "Tullock" Trophy for best demonstration in the sheep-dog trials. Like his only competitor, W. Robson, Mr. Turner is an old Scottish shepherd, who has lived in the Saanich district for many years. Collies were used by both competitors, the animals showing uncanny intelligence in rounding the sheep into the pen.

Another big crowd was found around the part of the field allotted to school sports. "Tillikum School" won the David Spencer Cup for the most points for a five-room school. Cedar Hill School secured the Saanich Board of Trade Cup in the three-room school class. North Saanich School took the W. O. Wallace Trophy for most points in the one and two-room school contest, and in the inter-school relay race. Cedar Hill School was successful in securing the cups both for boys and girls.

OTHER FEATURES

Great interest centered in the cattle, the feature of which, at the Saanich fair, is always in the Jersey section. The registered Jersey entry was heavy, including a number of "Island" prize winners from the Vancouver fair. Among these were the senior champion bull Golden-Standard II, the junior champion bull Babbarcombe Le Roudin Birdie, and the grand champion bull Golden Standard, all from H. E. Burbridge's Babbarcombe herd. Ralph Rendle, the best-known Holstein breeder of the district, also had a good showing. Among the

Jury Says Death Of Eugene Rosin Was Accidental

A verdict of accidental death was returned yesterday by a coroner's jury in connection with the death of Eugene Rosin, longshoreman, following an accident on Esquimalt Road early last Saturday morning.

Evidence showed Rosin was a passenger with Nicholas Lyster and E. A. Richardson in an automobile driven west on Esquimalt Road by Edward Osgood. On a curve, near the Island Weavers' plant, the car careened off the road and crashed into a pole, witnesses said.

Lyster said the four were crowded into the front seat of the roadster and were traveling at a moderate rate of speed until they approached the corner near the Island Weavers' plant. There the driver, Osgood, accelerated the car slightly.

John Buckingham said he saw the accident while standing on Esquimalt Road, and heard a report similar to a tire blowout and the screech of brakes.

Government, and other democratic Governments the policy of neutrality.

All French laborers were asked to contribute one hour's pay for the aid of Spanish workers' families.

POLICY APPROVED

At the same time, the labor organization's executive expressed full approval of the Blum Government's interior policy, despite the spreading wave of strikes.

The number on strike in Marseille grew to 15,000 today as workers in several new metal and munitions plants joined the movement.

No negotiations for a settlement will be begun until the plants are evacuated, the Metallurgical Employers' Federation declared tonight.

IS DELAYED BY PORTUGAL

Absence From Neutrality Committee Hampers Work Of Group Seriously

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Absence of Portugal from the European committee to prevent intervention in Spain, authoritative quarters feared tonight, not only threatened the committee's future, but also dimmed British hopes of laying a foundation of good will for future Locarno discussion.

Great Britain, it was learned, still is trying to induce Spain's western neighbor to join the committee, which held its opening session today. The Lisbon Government, however, insists it must retain freedom to intervene in Spain should Communist propaganda across its border menace Portugal's own internal security.

The short-lived mutiny on two Portuguese warships yesterday also hampered efforts to win Lisbon's unreserved support, well-informed sources said.

TO EXCHANGE INFORMATION

The committee, nevertheless, agreed to exchange information concerning the various national steps to isolate the Spanish civil war.

William Morrison, financial secretary of the treasury, was elected chairman of the group which assumed the name, "The international committee for application of the agreement regarding non-intervention in Spain."

He will call the next meeting for which no date was fixed, when representatives of twenty-four member-nations hope to be able to furnish data on the effectiveness of embargoes.

Viscount Cranborne, Parliamentary Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, also represented Great Britain.

CABINET ON TOUR IN B.C.

Hon. G. S. Pearson Is Impressed With Mining on Vancouver Island

Provincial affairs settled into the routine of departmental business this week, with most members of the Cabinet out of town on various missions. Hon. G. S. Pearson returned yesterday from the West Coast of Vancouver Island, where he inspected fishery plants and also looked into mining activities in the Alberni region. The Minister said he was impressed by mining operations in the canal region and along Zeballos River.

Hon. A. W. Gray, Hon. John Hart and Hon. P. M. MacPherson, who participated in a tour to the Flathead country south of Fernie, reached via Spokane, were returning to the city after a visit in which Tom Uphill, M.P.P., acted as guide. A provincial reserve was placed on the whole area a year ago, and is now coupled with hints of Government assistance towards oil lands development, should this prove warranted.

PREMIER ON TOUR
Premier Pattullo launched out on a final tour of provincial ridings, in advance of a provincial general election, expected next year. He will tour a score of towns in Okanagan and Kootenay constituencies, speaking at several points.

Hon. Dr. O. M. Weil was crossing the continent to Ottawa and Toronto on departmental business, with municipal superannuation affairs high on the list of subjects to be discussed.

Commencing next week, Hon. G. S. Pearson will leave on a ten-day tour of the Kootenays, accompanied by Dr. J. P. Walker, provincial mineralogist. He will stop at Siccan and other points, en route.

Hon. Dr. K. C. MacDonald attended the Saanich Fair yesterday, and will leave shortly for a round of visits to interior fairs and exhibitions.

In a few weeks' time, vacation days for Provincial Ministers will be over, and the Government will prepare in earnest for a fourth, and possibly final, session of the Legislature, limited for the latter part of October. Municipal aid is given as the chief object of the Fall session.

Boys and Girls Are Expert Cattle Breeders

At the sixty-eighth annual Saanich Fair yesterday, much interest centred in the splendid exhibit entered by the Boys' and Girls' Saanich Register Jersey Heifer and Calf Clubs. The above photograph shows the fifteen entries, with their respective owners, as follows: Russell Munroe, Bob Evans, Muriel Raper, "Pat" Hood, Joe Roberts, George Malcolm, Douglas Lawson (Heifer Club), and Walter Gallop, Jock Davey, Douglas Lawson, Isabel Raper, Mary Thompson, Dulcie Malcolm and George Malcolm (Calf Club). By entering the best heifer owned by boy or girl, Douglas Lawson carried off the Mrs. A. J. B. Dewdney Silver Challenge Cup. J. C. Berry, of the University of British Columbia, who judged the cattle entries at the fair, is seen in the middle background.

MADRID HAS ACUTE SHORTAGE OF FOOD

Flour, coffee and other stocks also are low.

SHORTAGE OF COAL
A shortage of coal, caused when the Asturias coal basin was cut off from Government-held territory, started a rush of residents for alcohol, kerosene and gasoline for their stoves.

While the people are severely pinched for food, they get daily reports of Government victories on the various battle fronts.

Unofficial reports today told of Government militiamen in Toledo to the South, entering the suburban passages honeycombed by the besieged rebel garrison in the Alcazar.

An official statement proclaimed the Government capture of Huesca, in the Northwest, and the halting of a rebel column near Santa Olalla (thirty miles from Toledo).

A special appropriation of 30,000,000 pesetas (nominally $100,000) for the purchase of war materials and maintenance of fighting forces was voted by the Government.

UNOFFICIAL ARMISTICE
(Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press.)
SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, Sept. 9.—An unofficial but effective armistice tonight halted fighting in the siege by Spanish rebels of the Government-held coastal city of San Sebastian.

With not a single shot fired by either side in the last twenty-four hours, it was believed the city might surrender to the rebel war lord, General Emilio Mola, without further fighting.

If this surrender should take place, the rebel army would be in complete control of the strategic northeast coastal section of Spain continuous to the French frontier.

FOLLOWED THEIR APPEAL
There was no authority for belief foreign diplomats at Saint Jean de Luz, in France, directly had negotiated the armistice, but the trade followed upon their secret appeal to both belligerents.

The municipal governor of San Sebastian, Antonio Ortega, dispatched his son, Jose, Tuesday into France to seek a peaceful surrender of the city, provided the Government defenders were promised amnesty by the rebel war lords. This offer made through French intermediaries, was scorned, and Anarchists within the city vowed they would burn San Sebastian to the ground rather than surrender.

CANADA MUST DEFEND SHIPPING ROUTES

said it was impossible to predict what the future held.

Although he was not in favor of an alliance between Canada and the United States, he hoped the Dominion would co-operate with the United States along lines of collaboration in the event of a future war.

AIR DEFENCE

At last the old sea water school realized the importance of air defence with rapid development in aeronautics, he stated. Bombing planes of the big European air forces were capable of flying over 3,000 miles with a full load of incendiary bombs at speeds up to 350 miles per hour.

Lord Elbank believed Canada was faced with the problem of attack from the air as well as European nations. He was positive the best defence was to be able to attack in the event of a nation being attacked.

The next great war, he said, would undoubtedly be bloody and ruthless. In the case of an air attack, he ventured to suggest Canada's position would be no better than that of any other nation.

Because one of his ancestors helped conquer Canada and later became the first military and civil governor, Lord Elbank had a great love for the Dominion and hoped it would perpetually remain part of the British Empire.

Lord Thankerton Will Be Canadian Club Guest Here

RT Hon. Lord Thankerton, Lord of Appeal in Ordinary and one of the most distinguished members of the Judicial Committee of the Imperial Privy Council, will be the guest of honor at a luncheon meeting of the Men's Canadian Club tomorrow at 12:15 p.m. in the Empress Hotel, and will speak on "Love of Law."

Lord Thankerton was the guest and special speaker at the Canadian Bar Association annual conference in Halifax last month. Members of the Victoria Bar Association have been invited to attend tomorrow's luncheon to Lord Thankerton here.

justified in saying what he knew and believed.

Dealing with British Columbia, Lord Elbank stated he was greatly impressed with its vast timber, mineral, agricultural and fishing resources, but it seriously lacked population. He knew that the Federal and Provincial Governments had to face many problems, but hoped the day would soon dawn when the British Isles would be able to co-operate by sending settlers to populate the great area.

In telling how the Federation of Chambers of Commerce consisted of 140 individual groups in various parts of the British Empire, he said the object was to promote and expand Empire trade and discuss all problems in the open. In New Zealand delegates planned to deal with such subjects as monetary policies, Ottawa trade agreements, world shipping, migration, defence and the extension of air routes.

Victoria and Vancouver, as the gateway of the Pacific, would be interested in matters brought up at the conference, Lord Elbank declared. He stressed the importance of preserving the steamship line between British Columbia and the Antipodes in the face of heavy competition, stating that delegates would urge their respective governments to pay careful attention to the matter.

GREATER TRADE
Referring to Ottawa trade agreements, he was sure they had laid the foundation for even greater Empire trade. As the direct result of the pact, Great Britain's trade and increased nearly $100,000,000 each year, Canada's trade with the United Kingdom showed an increase of about $65,000,000, and trade with Australia showed a gain of 40 per cent.

Empire trade was the most profitable Canada could have. Lord Elbank maintained. Without the British market for wheat, oats, hay and other agricultural products, Prairie Provinces would face a serious situation, he stated. The Ottawa trade agreements, he said, resulted in an increase of 80 per cent in box and their products and 150,000,000 pounds of oats being shipped from Canada.

Thanking Lord Elbank Harold Hubbard, president of the Chamber of Commerce, declared Canada was proud to be part of the British Empire, and citizens knew they had benefited by Empire trade.

THIEVES FAIL IN ATTEMPT ON SAFE

DEATH CLAIMS P. L. O'CONNELL

Well-Known Resident Succumbs Suddenly—Prominent in K. of C. Circles

Patrick Leo O'Connell, aged fifty years, prominent in Knights of Columbus circles here, died suddenly yesterday at his residence, 358 Beechwood Avenue. Although Mr. O'Connell had been ill for about four months, he was apparently in much improved condition, and about a month ago returned home from hospital. He took a turn for the worse late yesterday afternoon and passed away.

The deceased was born in Lindsay, Ont., and received his early education there. He was employed on the New York Central Railway for some time when a young man-as-brake-man and freight conductor.

CAME TO VICTORIA
In 1912 Mr. O'Connell came west to Victoria to join his brother, the late J. D. O'Connell, of the old clothing establishment of Fitzpatrick & O'Connell, which operated on Government Street. The clothing firm moved to the Arcade Building, but was forced out of business by fire some years ago.

The deceased joined the staff of the Berg Motor Company as a salesman and remained there for number of years. Prior to his illness, Mr. O'Connell had been employed at the Government Liquor Store on Johnson Street.

FORMER GRAND KNIGHT
Years ago Mr. O'Connell was prominent in K. of C. circles and held every office in that organization. He was at one time Grand Knight of the order. He was an active member of St. Andrew's Cathedral.

Mr. O'Connell is survived by his widow, three sons: Irving, Roger and Seiden, and one daughter, Drucilla, all at home. The remains are resting at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel and funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Only the excursion craft's superstructure remained above the water. The New York limped slowly dockward. She listed slightly to port, and there was a huge hole about five feet across, coast guard officials said—in her bow at the waterline.

Passengers aboard both vessels praised the crews. Officials of the lines and officers of the ship declined comment.

NONE SERIOUSLY INJURED
At the dock, passengers on the New York were taken by taxi cab to the South Terminal and placed aboard trains for New York. The Romance passengers did not leave the New York immediately. Appear-ently only four persons were injured, not seriously.

Toronto, Sept. 9.—The great necessity in Canada is agricultural education, for the farmer who knows how to produce would make a big contribution to Canadian agriculture, said Hon. Duncan Marshall, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, speaking today at the Canadian National Exhibition directors' luncheon.

His Backache Was Unbearable

Kruschen Brought Him Relief From Pain

This man of thirty-one was prematurely aged by backache. When he should have been enjoying the best years of his life, here he tells how Kruschen helped to restore him to health after months of pain. "I was in hospital for ten weeks, owing to kidney trouble. When I was discharged I felt like an old man, although I am only thirty-one. If I stooped to do anything it was agony to straighten up again. Several people advised me to try Kruschen-Salts. I tried them and found they gave me relief from pain, and I felt better in every way. I cycle twenty-eight miles a day and from work, and shall never use the daily dose of Kruschen because I can now do the journey to and from work and not feel any worse for it."—S.V.C.

When the internal organs cease to do their work properly, impurities begin to accumulate in the system and cause troublesome symptoms. Kruschen-Salts help to stimulate the liver and excretory organs to healthy, regular activity, and thus assist them to rid the system of harmful impurities. (Adv.)

Newport Bridge Is Open

Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau officials yesterday were expressing pleasure with the recent completion and opening of the Newport Bridge over Yaquina Bay, making the Oregon Coast Highway complete without ferries or toll bridges. The Newport Bridge is the fifth to be erected on the Oregon section of Pacific Highway 101, which has Victoria for its northern terminus. George I. Warren, Victoria publicity commissioner, said the new bridge, erected at a total cost of over $6,000,000, would encourage more travel to the Pacific Northwest and speed up traveling time. In the past, one to five hours were lost in delay, when motorists had to cross the bays and rivers in Oregon by ferries.

Any other participation in the funds of the city was illegal. It was true that there was provision made under Section 164 of the act by which the expenses of delegates of the city, when they were on city business, might be paid. This applied whether the delegates were members of the council or otherwise.

MR. ELLIOTT'S VIEW

Mr. Elliott, in opening his reply on behalf of the City Council, pointed out that under Section 164 the power was given to pay the expenses of members of the council or others their expenses when on city business. The plan in hand was one of refunding for the city and it was pointed out that it would be necessary in this connection to begin the work in London, England.

The council had proposed to act under resolution of the council rather than by way of a by-law. The majority of the council had approved of the course. It was not known what the expenses would be in this connection, but it was assured it would not exceed $15,000.

MR. ELLIOTT'S REFUND

Mr. Elliott suggested there might be a return of part of the expense money if the expenses fell below the $15,000 specified in the resolution.

"Where is there anything in the contract to bear this out?" asked His Lordship.

Mr. Elliott replied the agreement carried this implication. The city was undertaking to pay Mr. Henley $30,000 less the expenses, said Mr. Elliott.

The effort in hand was to restore the land values in Victoria. The comptroller of the city had knowledge of the finances which were needed in connection with the proposition. It was felt, however, that the Mayor and the chairman of the finance committee of the council would be necessary to supplement the information that would be required to insure the success of the undertaking.

ANXIOUS OVER REFUND

Again His Lordship interjected that he could not find anything in the agreement to require the paying back of any return from the expense fund which was to be paid.

The court added that the authorized expenses to be paid and that only.

Mr. Elliott said that the course taken was not along the line of paying the expenses, but a fixed sum was agreed upon from which the expenses would be paid. There would be added a refund of the money that was not spent on expenses.

The city could protect itself in this regard when the necessary by-law was passed. The council was the governing body and could take means of protecting the city in the matter.

Mr. Higgins concluded the argument by stating to His Lordship that this was an action by the ratepayers to prevent the payment of money by the city, which was something within the right of every ratepayer.

His Lordship reserved his judgment, which was followed a few hours later by the handing down of the decision.

ONLY ONE

It was the country servant's first job in London. A bell had been installed in her bedroom, and the morning after her arrival the mistress of the house rang it to awaken her.

"The mistress waited. The maid, however, did not appear. Twice more she rang but nothing happened.

Fuming inwardly, the woman rose herself, and slipping on a dressing-gown hastened to the servant's room. There, wide awake, lay the girl, snoring with laughter.

"What on earth are you laughing at, Jane?" she asked frigidly. Jane pointed to the bell.

"I'm laughing at that," she replied. "As sure as I live I haven't touched it—but just see, it's ringing still!"

GUESS AGAIN
The blonde chorus girl was "resting" between engagements, and decided to visit a fortune-teller at Southend to know what the future had in store for her.

The fortune-teller gazed mysteriously into the crystal for some time.

"Young lady," she murmured, at last, "I see two men who are fighting for your hand in marriage. One is a middle-aged, homely millionaire. The other is young and handsome, but without a penny in the world."

"Yes, yes!" cried the blonde, filled with excitement. "Who wins?"

Once more the fortune-teller gazed fixedly into the crystal.

"I see it all now," she went on. "You will marry the handsome young man without any money."

The chorus girl leaned back in her chair and laughed.

"Guess again!" she remarked.

HIS BROTHER-IN-LAW'S SISTER
This true story comes to us from Colorado. A relief worker drove four miles into the country to take supplies to a deserving farmer. Before she left she checked up on a rumor that had come to the welfare office. "We are told that you have been seen driving a car. How about it? You know help isn't given to people who own cars."

Promptly the farmer replied: "No, lady, I haven't no car. I drive one once in a while when it is loaned to me."

"Who owns the car?" asked the worker.

"My brother-in-law's sister," he replied. "Sometimes she lets me drive it."

The explanation was satisfactory and the lady drove away. When she had gone the farm chuckled. "She shore never figured out that my brother-in-law's sister is my wife."

Rev. Frederick Hastings, just turned ninety-eight years of age, preached what is reported to have been a "rousing discourse" in an English Congregational church recently. This almost centenarian has still a resonant voice. He ascribes the cause of his joyous vitality to his life of whole-hearted surrender to Christ.

What Reddy Fox Saw and Did
By THORNTON W. BURGESS

There wasn't a trace of a smile on Uncle Billy's face, and Reddy couldn't tell whether Uncle Billy was making fun of him or not. So there he sat, nothing else to do, he went on. He reached the foot of the hill without seeing or hearing a thing out of the usual. The Green Forest seemed just as it always had seemed. Reddy the Vireo was pouring out his little song of gladness quite as if everything was just as it should be. Reddy's courage began to come back. Nothing had happened and nothing was going to happen. Of course

What was that? Reddy had caught a sound at the top of the hill. He stopped and looked up. For just a minute Reddy could see that his eyes saw right down the hill, straight toward the strangest thing he had ever seen. He couldn't see any

PLAZA PRESENTS
LIVELY PICTUREGary Cooper and Marlene Dietrich
Appearing Together in Brilliant
"Desire"

"Desire," the romantic comedy which brings together Marlene Dietrich and Gary Cooper for the first time since "Morocco," opens today at the Plaza Theatre. The combination of these screen favorites and a fast-moving, surprise-filled story makes for delightful entertainment.

The mood of this exciting picture changes constantly. One moment, Marlene Dietrich is naively consuming the theft through a rose, of a costly string of pearls from a leading Parisian jeweler. The next, she is in danger at a border town in Europe, when the customs officials are unexpectedly thorough in their search. The encounter with the American vacationist, played by Cooper, begins with comedy and turns to ardent romance.

"Jinx" Girl, Stars Frances
Dee With Fine Cast

"Half Angel," the thrilling story of a "sorrow girl" who seemingly jinxes the lives of all who love her comes today to the Atlas Theatre, with Frances Dee, Brian Donlevy and Charles Butterworth in the leading roles.

Mrs. Dee is cast as the innocent victim of circumstances twice wrongfully accused of poison murders, with Donlevy appearing as the irresistible reporter, who refuses to believe her guilty. Butterworth, seen as Donlevy's muddle-headed, blundering "stooge," whose hilarious antics highlight the mystery, thrills and romance of the film.

"Half Angel" is a Darryl F. Zanuck Twentieth Century Production, directed by Sidney Landfield.

Radio Favorite
Stars in Drama

Lovers of music and lovers of love—the two categories embrace the human species—have a glorious evening's entertainment offered in the Fox film "Here's to Romance," showing today, Friday and Saturday at the Oak Bay Theatre.

"Here's to Romance" deals with the private life and loves of a world-famous tenor, whom the millions love for his golden voice and whom two women love for himself. This principal role is taken by Nino Martin, brilliant Metropolitan tenor and radio star. Marie Camille Schumann-Heink, Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, and other famous Metropolitan stars are also heard.

Columbia Offers
"Manhattan Moon"

A childhood theatre which he constructed in the back yard of his home was responsible for Hugh O'Connell, who plays an important role in Universal's gay and lighthearted comedy of Broadway night life, "Manhattan Moon," at the Columbia Theatre, becoming a stage star and a featured comedian.

On the stage he was starred in "The Sap From Syracuse," "Once in a Lifetime" and "The Milky Way."

Atlas—Half Angel—starring Frances Dee.

Capitol—Clark Gable in "San Francisco."

Columbia—Hugh O'Connell in "Manhattan Moon."

Dominion—Henry Fonda in "Spendthrift."

Oak Bay—Nino Martin in "Here's to Romance."

Plaza—"Desire," starring Marlene Dietrich.

Way—"For many years he was a favorite figure on the Broadway stage. In motion pictures he has played in 'Broadway Through a Keyhole,' 'Gift of Gab,' 'Cheating Cheaters,' 'Diamond Jim,' 'It Happened in New York' and 'Strange Wives.' Now he has a chance to go back, but this time in pictures, to Broadway. He appears with Ricardo Cortez and beautiful Dorothy Page in 'Manhattan Moon.'

CAPITOL—Ted Healy has turned a crooner of 1935 vintage. This may lead to an argument that crooners did not exist in 1935, but Healy has proof that they did exist in the form of "ballad singers." As a 1935 crooner, Healy sings two new ballads in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "San Francisco," starring Clark Gable, Jeanette MacDonald and Spencer Tracy, and now at the Capitol Theatre.

DOMINION—Top-notch entertainment, provided by the studio of Dominion, will be the best talent in a story neatly combining romance and humor, marks the new offering of the Dominion Theatre, Walter Wagner's "Spendthrift," which opened there Tuesday.

Chief role in the screen play of a millionaire youth who had lost his fortune to find the right girl is carried by Henry Fonda, young Paramount star.

SOVIET FILM COMING TO COLUMBIA-MONDAY

"Peasants," the film from the studio of Soviet Russia, will be shown at the Columbia Theatre commencing Monday. The subject is one which deals with the problem of Socialist agricultural construction which is yet to be solved by the Soviet.

Taking one compact incident, "Peasants" is a firmly-knit story which covers much ground, depicting in narrative style, and with authenticity the contemporary life in a Russian village. The underlying theme is the struggle for the maintenance of collectivism as against the subversive move toward individual ownership as in the past.

What Today Means

"VIRGO" is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:45 to 11:45 a.m., from 1:45 to 3:45 p.m., and from 6:45 to 8:45 p.m. The longer periods are from 7:45 to 9:45 a.m. and from 4:45 to 6:45 p.m., and from 9:45 to 11:45 p.m.

Caution must be used on this day in any calling for, an affirmation or a denial. Some ulterior motive may be back of an overly inquisitive friend's interest in your strictly personal affairs. Some people are apt to have a very exaggerated sense of humor, so make allowance for it, should it border on being offensive. In business circles, there may prevail a tendency for customers to endeavor to have fixed policies set aside, so as to meet some unreasonable demand inspired by a whim on their part. Rules governing the administration or management of any concern should, generally be strictly adhered to. Gales without boisterousness is advised if you participate in any social activity this day. Married and engaged couples and those who are must not be selfish this day, if a disagreement is to be avoided.

If a woman and September 10 is your birthday you most likely have every qualification needed to be a successful wife and mother. You probably have a great amount of poise, as well as personal charm. You are perhaps a very deliberate thinker, but once you have made up your mind, it is unusually a difficult task to make you change it. You can have great expectations where money is concerned, for there is a possibility of it enabling you to do something you have always had an ambition to do. Be careful of vanity, because through an excess of it much trouble will come into your life. As a librarian, laboratory worker, designer, interior decorator, educator, missionary or broker you ought to do exceptionally well financially.

The child born on September 10 usually when it reaches its teens, has a great change for the better both mentally and physically. This youngster, in all likelihood, has a chance of becoming a very famous personage, or a great business success.

If a man and September 10 is his natal day, his ship is likely to come sailing in when you have almost given up hope of its ever arriving. So be optimistic. As a manufacturer, inventor, food specialist, financier, artist, journalist, physician or businessman, you very likely will build up an enviable reputation.

THE RETURN OF JOAN
by JOSEPH McCORD

CHAPTER XXIV
Claire emerged from the front door and greeted Deeds blithely. "You're looking very much better," were her first words as she surveyed him. "Did you get some sleep as I told you to?"

"I've been loafing," he felt better, thanks. "Just the same, I'm going to check up with Gene when I see him on what you two did last night. She settled herself in the next chair and smoothed her skirt. "He has developed into a regular go-getter since he's been here. I wouldn't be much surprised to find that he's addressing Rotary Clubs."

"Maybe he is." "Can't prove it by me. One thing sure, he seems to be all talked out when he hangs around here. About as communicative as Joan... or does she loosen up in the right company?"

"You asking me?" "Of course." "I'm playing you across the board now. I figure that Joan isn't in the money any more. I know how he feels."

"You?" "Are you so used to having girls throw themselves at you that it doesn't make any impression at all? My luck is pitiful. I've seen a lot of summer romances in my time, but you're the fastest worker yet. All I have to say is... I hope you win."

Deeds glanced around in surprise at the sudden little ring of sincerity in Claire's last words. For some reason, it did not occur to him to attempt deceit.

"I could wish the same thing," he answered simply. "Joan's a dear." Claire said impatiently. "But I can't get away from the idea... rather I'd shut up."

"No." Deeds leaned nearer. "I want you to finish. I want you to tell me why you wished, the other day, that she wasn't here. I have a reason."

"I can't answer that, Deeds. Not the way I think you want me to. It's just that I worry about her, and I know she wouldn't thank me. At times I think that doctor was bounding her on the quilt. But now I don't think that's it. Just a silly hunch... I guess."

"I hope so." "I don't know a thing, Deeds... honestly. I told you that I don't never let me get near her. But I surprised her several times. When she thought no one was watching her, you know. There's a queer, straight look in her eyes... almost as if she were afraid. But, goad knows, there's nothing to be afraid of around here. And I can't fancy Joan having a past."

Claire laughed lightly over that suggestion. Her blue eyes looked frankly at Deeds. It was a cliché, he decided, that she knew nothing of that marriage. It looked, more than ever now, as if Sloan Ellidge was only an outsider able to use that information to Joe's disadvantage.

He excused himself and went to his room to make ready for dinner. Having reached the conclusion that it would be best, while waiting for circumstances to develop, if he made no obvious attempt to seek Joan's company, Deeds had no opportunity to talk with her until they met by chance the following afternoon.

He had been debating whether or not he would say anything about her having been seen in his room. He was satisfied that his explanation still was correct, but had been unable to dismiss it. There were several reasons why he did not approve of Joan's being in his room like that... the chief one being that his door was in plain sight of the Ellidge quarters. Of course they were at the table... Every one was, except that Beckham kid.

"You know, Joan," he began abruptly, "I've had my first great disappointment in you."

"What do you mean?" "Nothing, except you told me you knew I was planning to beat it from here. I thought your heart must have said it. And it was only your eyes." "You saw the damning evidence."

"What evidence?" "My bags. When you were in my room." He laughed at her bewildered expression. "Don't tell me you're going to bray it out."

"If you'll be good enough to tell me what in the world you're talking about," Joan's tone was impatient. "All right. In words of easy syllables, I didn't get up until late yesterday... before lunch time, in fact... been poring with Gene, you know. Rosemary."

who can have a care-free time... they're entitled to it," she added with a mischievous smile. "Has anything else happened?"

"Not that I know of. I think our best bet is to let things simmer as long as they will, keep our eyes open. Gene's back I notice."

"That was what I was going to speak about when you began your tirade against women. Have you talked with him?"

"Only to pass the time of day. Why?"

"I thought he seemed worried. It may have been my imagination. But he went away by himself after lunch... on foot. He walked up the beach, toward Waples."

"Go on."

"Dr. Sloan went the same way about half an hour later."

"And you think...?"

"I had the feeling he was going to meet Gene. After what has happened... I can't help being a little frightened."

"No reason for that," Deeds decided. "There are too many people stirring around there all the time. Would it make you feel any better if I faked an errand up the line. I could go to the postoffice," he grinned.

"No. The doctor might think you were tagging him."

"I guess you're right at that. I'll camp around out front here and check them in. The fat boy wasn't alone."

"No. Dr. Sloan didn't go unless he went afterward."

Deeds took up his watch on the porch and was rewarded by the appearance of Gene an hour later. Sloan came down the beach alone, walking rapidly. He passed Deeds with a slight smile and disappeared into the cottage.

Sloan Ellidge did not put in appearance until the others were at the dinner table. To Joan's worried request for an explanation, the older doctor said curtly that he had been for a walk and went farther than he intended. Thereupon he devoted himself silently to his meal.

When the group gathered on the porch for its usual evening convale,

"What is advancing most in your business?"

"The clock."

Deeds contented himself with keeping a mental tab on the various members.

All were accounted for, save Gene Gaston.

As usual, the Beckhams were the first to say good night and disappear. Ten-thirty was their unvarying hour for retiring. As a matter of policy, which he would have been at a loss to explain, Deeds was the next one to excuse himself.

Once in his room, however, he found himself too restless and wide-awake to consider going to bed.

Kay Stammers in Sensational Win In U.S. Net Meet

English Southpaw Scores 7-5, 3-6, 6-4 Triumph Over Carolin Babcock for Day's Feature at Forest Hills—Alice Marble Advances—Fred Perry Gains Another Easy Win

By BOB CAVANAGH
Associated Press Sports Writer
FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Sept. 9 (AP).—Firmly entrenching herself as a serious threat to Helen Jacobs' ambition to win the title for the fifth straight time, left-handed Kay Stammers, of England, today stole the show in the United States singles tennis championship as she out-gamed and out-played a courageous Carolin Babcock in a rousing quarter-final match.

The attractive southpaw star's 7-5, 3-6, 6-4 triumph paled into insignificance the other quarter-final victory scored at 6-2, 11-9 by Alice Marble, of San Francisco, over Gracyn Wheeler, of Santa Monica, Cal., and likewise overshadowed the progress of her competitor, Fred Perry, and Bryan "Bile" Grant, Jr., of Atlanta, to the penultimate round in the men's championship.

TAKES EARLY LEAD

Miss Stammers broke away to a 4-0 lead in the third and final set, breaking through Miss Babcock's delivery in the sixth and eighth games. Miss Babcock pulled up to 4-5.

Invading Bike Riders Make Clean-Up of Annual Races At Beacon Hill

It was Vancouver day at the Beacon Hill races of the Victoria Cycling Club, when Mainland riders took the lion's share of honors in the various pedal-pushing contests. Leo Marchiori, veteran Vancouverite, lead a smart field of twenty-two to the top in the feature ten-mile Pennell race for the B.S.A. Trophy and the provincial title.

Tom Howe, another Vancouver boy, romped home second, closely followed by Les Bolney and Warren McCarthy. The time of 27:48.3 was nearly two minutes slower than that set last year by Morris Robinson, Vancouver, who failed to finish in the money-time this time.

Although losing his ten-mile championship Robinson secured two new titles, the British Columbia mile and two-mile championships. Les Bolney, Vancouver, was the winner in the two-mile race for boys aged eighteen, while Warren McCarthy, also from the local, captured the one-mile British Columbia junior championship.

In the one-mile race for boys under fifteen, Alan Duval, Vancouver, in first, with Roy Bell and Gordon Perkins trailing him to the tape. Neil Duval took the prize for the best average in laps.

Chief of Police Heatley officiated as starter for all the races. Following the events the prizes were presented by A. Fraser Reid, Vancouver, C.W.A. chairman for the British Columbia district.

The complete list of results follows: One-mile British Columbia championship—1, Morris Robinson, Vancouver; 2, Glenn Robbins, Victoria; 3, Leo Marchiori, Vancouver. Time, 2:24.4.5. ## SOCCER MATCHES IN OLD COUNTRY

LONDON, Sept. 9 (AP).—Results of soccer games played in the Old Country today follow:

ENGLISH LEAGUE
Division I
Arsenal 1, Brentford 1.
Birmingham 1, West Bromwich Albion 1.
Derby County 3, Sunderland 0.
Leeds United 1, Manchester City 1.
Liverpool 0, Portsmouth 0.
Manchester United 3, Huddersfield Town 1.
Middlesbrough 1, Wolverhampton Wanderers 0.
Division II
Bradford 1, Leicester City 2.
Bury 2, Barnsley 1.
Newcastle United 3, West Ham United 3.
Norwich City 2, Chesterfield 0.

In the tenth game, with the invader's scoring and the count 15-11, Miss Stammers' first serve for the third point was called out. The line-man's decision was questioned by the Californian, but the umpire sustained it. Miss Stammers then served the next ball out, too, now trailing 15-30.

Miss Babcock then made a neat sportsman's gesture, but one that was costly to her cause, by purposely batting out her rival's next serve. The other two points were easy for Miss Stammers.

The British star will meet the winner of tomorrow's quarter-final match—Miss Jacobs and Gracyn Wheeler, of Santa Monica, Cal., and likewise overshadowed the progress of her competitor, Fred Perry, and Bryan "Bile" Grant, Jr., of Atlanta, to the penultimate round in the men's championship.

PERRY WINS EASILY

Perry advanced easily at the expense of tall Henry Culley, of Santa Barbara, Cal., 6-3, 6-2, 6-1. ## PAPIANO WILL MEET FRALEY IN MAIN BOUT

Italian Heavyweight to Oppose San Francisco Grappler Saturday

Handsome Pat Fraley, San Francisco's gift to the mat pastime, will return to the local Palace de Squirr Saturday evening to battle Leo Papiano, Italian heavyweight, in the main event of promoter Fred Richardson's inaugural show of the 1936-37 Winter wrestling season. Fraley, who only recently defeated Ed "Strangler" Lewis, former world champion, in straight falls, is replacing George "Cannonball" Kitzmiller, rugged Portlander, who was previously booked for the top spot. Popular with Victoria fans, the Bay City grappler is one of the smartest boys to ever show at the Tillikum gymnasium.

Papiano, a newcomer to Pacific Coast wrestling circles, will be making his first appearance in the local ring when he climbs over the ropes to oppose the clever and likeable Fraley. The bout is scheduled for eight ten-minute rounds, or the best two out of three falls.

Upwards of 400 thoroughbreds will be stable here for the fourteen-day meeting, which will continue until Monday, September 28. With the addition of the "umber tappers," eight events will be carded daily. First post time will in all probability be pushed ahead to 2 o'clock, instead of the usual 2:30 o'clock.

Gene Kunes Unable to Defend Canadian Title

Titleholder Becomes Sick on Eve of Dominion Open Golf Meet—Hagen Fails to Show Up—Burke Shoots Great 68 in Practice

By KIMMER DULMAGE
Canadian Press Staff Writer
TORONTO, Sept. 9 (AP).—Before the eyes of the candidates, young St. Andrew's underwent its final barbering today to be in readiness for the first onslaught on its par 70 tomorrow in the Canadian open golf championship. The starting field will be about 190 strong, made up of the best professionals in Canada and the United States.

Even a last-minute announcement that Gene Kunes, of Norristown, Pa., would be unable to defend his title and another that Walter Hagen, definitely would not be here, failed to shake unusual interest in the 72-hole event. Tournament officials said they expect record crowds on all three days.

Kunes, a dark horse when he galloped home with a smashing 58 last year at Summerlea, Montreal, to win by two strokes over Victor Ghezzi, of Deal, N.J., is confined to hospital at home with a stomach ailment.

St. Andrew's first public course to entertain the open championship, was given a final grooming while the contestants completed their practice rounds under a blazing sun. Tons of sand were dumped into bunkers hardened by rain and heat, and fairways were clipped.

BURKE SHOOT 68
Shooting past the odd lawnmower and over an occasional sand trap, Bill Burke, former United States open champion, finished his tune-up campaign with a 68, two under par, and the best pre-tournament round. Playing with Lawson Little, former United States and British amateur king, Ted Turner, of Pine Valley, N.J., and Gordon Taylor, Jr., Toronto amateur, Burke scored 32 for the second nine holes. Turner carded 71, Taylor 73 and Little 75.

Little startled a big gallery with his length off the tees, but after reaching the turn in 36, one of the best professionals in Canada, he developed streaks of wildness.

Many of the stars did not keep cards, but Willie Lamb, Toronto ace, returned 71 and identical scores were brought in by Paul Runyan, Baltimore; Walberg, Grove and R. Ferrell; Kennedy and Sewell.

UP-ISLAND GOLF
DUNCAN, Sept. 9.—A. R. Irvine was winner of the men's monthly medal competition at the Cowan Golf Club yesterday with a gross 85, handicap 18, net 67. Others competing were Norman Martin, J. L. Maitland, J. Martin, W. B. Harter, C. C. Wright, T. Hedley, E. W. Carr, Hilton, H. R. Punnett, Col. Slater, Clayton Wright, R. Ransom, David Crane and Alan Prevost. The monthly medalists will compete for the year-end medal on September 30, those eligible to compete being F. Leeming, H. R. Punnett, R. Balas, T. Hedley, N. Staples, Clayton Wright, J. L. Maitland, Alan Prevost, David Crane, Percy Chambers, A. E. Heslop and A. S. Irvine.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES

By ALEX MORRISON

It is hard to believe that any golfer would do anything that did not measure up as good sportmanship, yet many do. Take, for example, when one player's ball stops on the line between his opponent's ball and the hole it is supposed to do so by accident and not design. Many times a player over-anxious to win a match will see the advantage of having his ball block the other player's approach to the cup. In putting he will favor the stymie and very often do the exact thing he visualized.

He probably gave no thought to harming his opponent, and certainly he would not go out of his way to handicap his play, but the damage is done, nevertheless.

The stymie is intentional unless the player does something about leaving his opponent's the clear. If this makes the whole thing objectionable then it might serve as one more argument for the abolition of stymies.

Boxla Team Will Workout Tonight

The following players are requested to turn out for practice: Brown, Rickinson, Nicol, Crossley, Burke, Plater, Passmore, Taylor, Pickford, Cummings, Pascoe, Sargison and Ron Williams.

DEFEAT CLEVELAND INDIANS TWICE TO DECIDE FLAG RACE

New York Nine Enters World Series by Piling Up Eighteen-Game Lead Over Second-Place White Sox—Chicago Beats Red Sox in Fifteenth—Giants Split—Cards Win Long Battle

AMERICAN LEAGUE
NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP).—Met the American League champions of 1936, the New York Yankees, as a murderous crew of ball-killers as ever stepped up to the plate. Rated as no better than third place in pre-season selections, the current edition of the "home-run" squad piled up one of the biggest slugging victories in baseball history to nail the flag to their mast, clinching the title with a double-header win over the Cleveland Indians in the semi-final of the American League play-offs.

Monte Pearson stopped the tribe with eight hits in the opener as the Yankees won, 11 to 3. In the nightcap, Lou Gehrig belted his forty-fourth homer, in the second inning with the bases loaded, and Bump Hadley, the league's leading pitcher, chalked up his thirteenth win, in leading the Yanks to a 12 to 9 victory.

The victories put the New York Yankees eighteen games in front of the second-place Chicago White Sox.

The Giants won the opener 4-2 behind Freddy Fitzsimmons' eight-hit pitching. The Reds got to Hal Schumacher for two runs in the third and another in the fifth to sew up the nightcap for a 3-2 decision.

William Woodward's Entry Scores Impressive Victory in 156th Renewal of Historic Event at Doncaster—The Aga Khan's Mahmoud Is Third—Favorite Takes Tenth Place

DONCASTER, England, Sept. 9.—Victory of Bowell, a twenty-one year old, in the 156th renewal of the St. Leger Stakes today left racing experts with a difficult problem in selecting the peer of this year's three-year-olds.

Bowell, owned by William Woodward, of New York, covered the one and three-quarter mile course in 3:08.2-5 to finish three-quarters of a length ahead of A. G. Smith's fearless Fox, with the Aga Khan's Mahmoud third; three length farther back.

Rhodes Scholar, five-to-four favorite, owned by Lord Astor, never was in front and finished tenth in the field of thirteen.

RECORD LAST YEAR
Today's running of the St. Leger, the senior classic, was in marked contrast with last year's performance. Then Bahram, owned by the Aga Khan, won in near-record time of 3:01.4-5 and annexed the mythical triple crown. The colt previously had won the Two Thousand Guineas and the Derby. Bahram ran at record low odds of four to eleven.

But while Bahram dominated the three-year-olds in 1935, the picture this year is confusing. Lord Astor's Pay Up won the Two Thousand Guineas and then took fourth place in the Derby. Pay Up wasn't entered for the St. Leger. Mahmoud was only a head back of Pay Up in the Guineas and won the Derby, with his more-favored stablemate, Taj Akbar second.

Mrs. Joseph Shand's raggy colt Thakerton, third in both the earlier open classics, ran fifth in the St. Leger.

Bowell, a brown colt by Bowworth out of Flying Gal II, won £10,564 (about $27,770) by his victory. The race in all was worth £12,535 (about $32,675).

LED FROM START
The American-owned entry led from the start then eased up, but remained with the leaders. When Jockey Pat Beasley called on him, Bowell went out ahead of the field and Fearless Fox's final challenge was not strong enough to upset the leader.

Fearless Fox started at odds of 100 to six, while Mahmoud was second favorite at five to one. E. Smith rode the second finisher and Charles Smirke had the mount on Aga Khan's grey colt.

The St. Leger, first run in 1796, is open to both colts and fillies. But in the Derby only colts ran. All carried a standard impost of 126 pounds.

Giant Infielder Makes Smart Putout

Ethan Allen, left fielder of the Chicago Cubs, slides into third base, but Travis Jackson, Giants' third baseman, tags him out. The action is from the third game in the "crosical" series between the league-leading New York Giants and the Cubs in Chicago. Cubs kept pecking away until they whipped the Giant battlers who took the first two games of the series.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP).—Buffeted by strong headwinds and crippled by a leak in the engine-cooling system, the German flying boat Aerolus returned to its mother ship today after failing to complete an exploratory flight over the Atlantic.

The ten-ton airplane was in the air ten hours and five minutes.

The plane, surveying weather and radio conditions over the North Atlantic's "southern route"—from the Azores, to Bermuda, to Port Washington, N.Y.—occupied six hours in flying 600 miles to the west, but only four hours in covering the return journey.

The flight report was transmitted to Pan-American Airways, which is extending technical assistance to the German company, Luftansa, in the survey.

AMATEUR
"It is beginning to be hinted," said the Earl of Rosebery in an address in Glasgow in 1900, "that we are a nation of amateurs."

Now the Earl of Rosebery did not mean to insinuate that the world was getting the idea that England was inhabited largely by lovers.

That, however, etymologically speaking, was the purpose of this sentence, as we are about to see.

We have "amateur" through the French from the Latin "amator," meaning "lover" in the sense in which we commonly associate the word.

It is only as a comparatively recent development of the term that we have its significance as a person interested in any particular pursuit—science, study, sport or art—"for art's sake" as the saying goes, rather than professionally.

Stocks Drop as Bonds Gain at New York Mart

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—For no particular reason, aside from profit-taking, industrially leaders bucked in today's stock market for declines of fractions to around 2 points.

At the same time there were a number of resistant issues which managed to buck the trend and hold moderate net gains.

Brokers attributed the day's erratic performance principally to realizing inspired by the fact the list had climbed almost to its top level of the year and traders sold on the theory that a technical correction was due.

There was a little more nervousness evident over European affairs, but whether this influenced reactionary tendencies to any great extent was to be questionable.

Domestic economic developments were still on the optimistic side, with the outlook for Fall business and industry seen as the best in several years.

Favorable earnings statements and increased dividends were in the majority.

The Associated Press average of sixty stocks rose 3/4 of a point, 68 1/2, just half of its yesterday's advance.

Transfers totaled 1,571,870 shares against 1,716,000 Tuesday.

Railroad bonds kept well ahead of other groups in the listed market, continuing the steady climb begun two weeks ago and established another new high average price.

Further advances of 1 to 2 points in Polish dollar bonds featured the foreign department. French 7 1/2% likewise were higher.

The Associated Press average of twenty rails advanced 3/4 of a point to a new 1936 high of 95 1/2.

CAME OFF BEST

Little Gordon had arrived home from school with a cut lip and a black eye.
"Dear me!" exclaimed his mother. "Do you mean to say you've walked through the streets like that?"
"I had to, mum," grinned Gordon. "You see, there wasn't room for the two of us in the ambulance."

Jane Dixon Says:

HERE'S A GIRL WHO SAVED HER FATHER FROM MARRYING A WOMAN SHE BELIEVED TO BE UNWORTHY, ONLY TO FIND HERSELF ENMESHED IN AN UNHAPPY LOVE TRIANGLE WITH THAT WOMAN'S HUSBAND.

Strange how certain women seem destined to cross one another's path.
Here's a girl who saved her father from marriage with one whom she believed to be unworthy, only to find herself a few years later, enmeshed in an unhappy love triangle with the woman's husband.
Yes, another triangle has popped out of the mail basket.

"Dear Jane Dixon:"

"I'm eighteen, but much older than my years.
"All my life, until the past few years, I've been sickly, and consequently I never associated with people my own age, but with grown-ups. So I believe I think with the mind of an adult, not of youth.
"Since I was thirteen, when my mother died, I have had dates—with my father's consent, of course—with men quite a lot older than myself, so I've already experienced the petty, childish love that comes to girls.

AN OFFICE ROMANCE

"For the past two years, since my father's death, I have been working for a man who is highly respected by everyone in our community, who comes from a good family and is a thorough gentleman.
"Not long after I began working for him I found I was in love with him. Not just the jealous, passionate love that young girls often know, but a deep reverent love that makes me desirous only of his happiness.

"I never let him know by thought or word that I loved him, but tried to the best of my ability to serve him and enlighten his work.
"Not long ago things came to a crisis.

"He told me he loved me and wished to marry me, but that he already was married. This I knew. I knew also that it was a marriage made in a fit of pique, when another girl refused him.
"He doesn't love his wife. She torments him to death, but in a jealous, selfish way she cares for him and won't give him a divorce though he has asked her for one.

WIFE IS JEALOUS

"He is too honorable a man to allow me to give myself to him without marriage, even though it would mean his happiness.
"We do not speak out to meet or go together in public so there would be gossip. We see one another only in the office.
"We have faced the situation squarely and have decided that we love each other enough to wait indefinitely, if his wife will not give him a divorce or he can't get one.

"His wife is jealous of me because years ago after my mother died she tried to marry my father, and I told him what kind of a woman she was so he stopped seeing her.
"Please show us the way to happiness.—Worried."

Answer: You've given me a mighty large order, Worried. However, since you've been so frank, I shall be likewise.
Get another job.

Of course the wife is jealous of you, and with reason. Whether you merit to do so or not the fact remains that you have captured the love of her husband.

THE WIFE'S UNENVIABLE POSITION

A man who loves one woman cannot live in peace and contentment with another. He cannot be kind and thoughtful and considerate of his wife when another woman is in his heart and mind.

No matter how unworthy she may be, in your estimation and in his, she is in an unenviable position which would edge the temper of a saint. Your continued presence in her husband's office is an irritant that will cause her to hold her position no matter how untenable it may be.

You've crossed her path twice, both times to defeat her. But this time she has it in her power to prevent your consolidating your victory, and she will hold on to that power with tenacity.

Going on through the years as an office wife is a pretty sorry business.
For your own self-respect, for the peace of mind of the man and for any possible future you may find together you should eliminate daily propinquity and association.

DRIVE TO SEEK NEW MEMBERS

Y.M.C.A. Expects to Enroll Five Hundred in Annual Campaign Here

Five hundred new members is the ambition of the local Y.M.C.A. when its annual membership drive gets under way September 20. It was learned at a meeting of the membership committee this week. Reports showing the progress of organizing the campaign were given by the majors, J. V. Johnson, Warren Martin, Norval Peterson and W. C. Hudson.

One junior member will be assigned to each senior team in order to swell the ranks of the younger boys. In spite of the seemingly ambitious membership objective, the organizers feel confident they will realize the 500 applications through renewals of last year's memberships and by the introduction of new members.

The next meeting of the committee will be on Monday, September 21, at 7 o'clock, while the captains will meet Friday, September 25, at 6 o'clock.

Y.M.C.A. BOOTH

Arrangements were also completed for the Y.M.C.A. booth at the annual Fall fair. A first aid service in charge of C. B. Crosby and Ernest Harwood will form a section of the booth, while a parcel-checking service will also be available.

The entire committee, with E. G. Rowbottom, chairman, will be at the booth at different times throughout the day, and will distribute an illustrated display of Y.M.C.A. activities and programmes for the coming season.

The membership committee is in charge of Rev. G. A. Reynolds, J. V. Johnson, Warren Martin, J. Heritage, Sam Hill, Schubert Prager, Norval Peterson, Frank Partington and Frank Paulding.

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

SENDING THE CHILD TO SCHOOL FOR THE FIRST TIME

Parents sending a child to school for the first time must be prepared to receive information about the youngster from the school authorities that may surprise and perhaps annoy them.

The school physician and nurse, whose work is to detect and attempt to correct early defects, will send home a report showing that certain teeth are decayed and need attention, together with the suggestion that more vegetables and fruit be given to the child. The tonsils may be large and the child admits having a sore throat frequently, so the removal of the tonsils is recommended. Perhaps the child has a poor posture—round shoulders, one shoulder low or even a spinal curvature—and corrective exercises are outlined which the parent is asked to supervise. The child may be anaemic (thin blood) and the parents are recommended to take the child to the family physician, or an iron tonic is suggested.

Sometimes something more than "physical" defects are noted; the child's behavior in school is such that he upsets the discipline of the classroom or the playground. The youngster may want to sit in a certain seat in the room, play a certain position in a playground game or want "his way" in the various school activities. The teacher, doctor and nurse know that the youngster's behavior, or his misbehavior, is simply the way he tries to attain his own ends; it has succeeded at home and he naturally expects it to succeed at school.

The school teacher, nurse and doctor simply outline on their report to the parents the various physical and mental defects they have found with sound recommendations for their correction. They expect the parent to co-operate with them in trying to make the child "normal, mentally and physically, so that he can take his place in the world. If the advice is followed the child is likely to grow up into a normal adult, demanding his due and giving to others that to which they are entitled. He is not as likely to become a "mental" patient as he would were the recommendations of teacher, nurse and doctor disregarded.

Parents, therefore, should not feel annoyed or angry when they receive these recommendations regarding their youngsters' physical and mental welfare. They should be pleased to know that they are receiving scientific help—a help they pay for—in the upbringing of their child.

Duncan Is Made Police District

DUNCAN, Sept. 9.—Duncan has been created a police district, covering all the territory from Shewan Lake to Chemainus, with headquarters in this city. Previously this territory had been included in the Victoria police district. This is looked upon here as a fitting recognition of the excellent services rendered by Corporal C. A. Johnson and his assistants.

Two negroes were boasting about the merits and qualifications of their respective motor cars, both typical worn, shabby old wrecks.

One of them said: "My's jus one reason why ah can't turn dis head, cab-o' mine two hundred miles a hounsh."

"Ah' what's dat reason?" asked the other.

"De distance am too long fo' de shawtness of de time," said the first.
